¹ But in fact, I made up my mind, that I would not come again to you on another painful visit.

² For if I cause you pain, who will cheer me, other than the one made sorrowful by me?

³ So I wrote this very thing so that when I come, I wouldn't have pain from those who ought to give me joy; because I am confident about all of you, that my joy will also be your joy.

⁴ For I wrote to you with many tears out of an extremely pained and anguished heart -- not to cause you grief, but that you might know the abundant love I have for you.

⁵ If anyone has caused grief, he has not caused me grief -- but in some degree, not to exaggerate, but to all of you.

⁶ This punishment imposed by the majority is sufficient for that person.

⁷ As a result, you should forgive him, and comfort him, otherwise he may be overwhelmed by excessive grief.

⁸ Therefore I urge you to reaffirm your love toward him.

⁹ I wrote for this purpose, to test your character, to see if you are obedient in everything.

¹⁰ Anyone you forgive, I forgive also. For what I forgiven -- if I have forgiven anything, - it is for your benefit in the presence of Christ;

¹¹ So that we may not be taken advantage of by Satan: for we are not ignorant of his schemes.

¹² When I came to Troas to preach the gospel of Christ, even though the Lord opened a door for me,

¹³ I had no rest in my spirit, because I did not find my brother Titus. Instead I said goodbye to them: and went for Macedonia.

¹⁴ Now thanks be to God, who always leads us to triumph in Christ, to spread the fragrant knowledge of Him through us in every place.

¹⁵ For to God we are the fragrance of Christ, among those being saved, and those who are perishing:

¹⁶ To some we are aroma of death leading to death; but to others we are an aroma of life, leading to life. And who is adequate for these things?

¹⁷ For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but on the contrary, we speak with sincerity in Christ, as from God, and before God.
